THE SOUTHERN GIRL'S SONG.

AIR—"Bonny Blue Flag."

Oh! yes, I am a Southern girl—
And glory in the name,
And boast it with far greater pride
Than glittering wealth or fame.
We envy not the Northern girl,
Her robes of beauties rare,
Though diamonds grace her snowy neck
And pearls bedeck her hair.

CHORUS—Hurrah! hurrah!
For the sunny South so dear,
Three cheers for the homespun dress
The Southern ladies wear.

The homespun dress is plain I know,
My hat's palmetto too,
But then it shows what Southern girls
For Southern rights will do.
We have sent the bravest of our land
To battle with the foe,
And we will lend a helping hand—
We love the South you know.
Hurrah! hurrah! &c.

Now, Northern girls are out of date;
And since Old Abe's blockade,
We Southern Girls can be content
With goods that's Southern made.
We sent our sweethearts to the war,
But, dear girls, never mind,
Your soldier's love will ne'er forget
The girl he's left behind.
Hurrah! hurrah! &c.

The soldier is the lad for me—
A brave heart I adore;
And when the Sunny South is free,
And when fighting is no more.
I'll choose me then a lover brave
From out that gallant band,
The soldier lad I love the best
Shall have my heart and hand.
Hurrah! hurrah! &c.

This Southern land's a glorious land,
And has a glorious cause—
Then cheer, three cheers for Southern rights
And for the Southern boys.
We scorn to wear a bit of silk,
A bit of Northern lace,
But make our homespun dresses up
And wear them with such grace.
Hurrah! hurrah! &c.

And now, young men, a word to you,
If you would win the fair,
Go to the field where honor calls,
And win your lady there.
Remember that our brightest smiles
Are for the true and brave,
And that our tears are all for these
Who fill a soldier's grave.
Hurrah! hurrah! &c.

ST. JOHN'S ISLAND, S. C., June 15, '63,

Everything in this part of the country remains quiet and in the same condition it has for some time past. The Abolitionists are still on Seabrook's Island, but keep themselves very quiet, and under cover of their gunboats. A few days since they brought up one piece of artillery and threw a few shell at the house where our pickets were stationed, but prudence did not allow them to come near enough for their shot to do any damage.

On one side of the Combahee river, near Pocataligo, our pickets are stationed, the other side is picketed by negroes; a short time since one of them called out to some of our men, "Hello, you dirty white man, you have not got us to hoe your corn or cotton for you any more, if you have any sisters or daughters send them over to us and we will ravish them for you."

Such is a specimen of the improvement of the negro under the teaching of the Abolitionist.

B.

Why do so many of our brethren of the press persist in the error of speaking of the steamships "Alabama" and "Florida" as privateers? They are Confederate States men-of-war, in regular commission, and not "privateers." The Yankees call them "pirates." Pray give them their right names. They are the pioneer ships of a Confederate navy.—Mobile Advertiser.

CHARLOTTE.

Saturday Morning, June 20, 1863.

Harry Macarthy.

Harry Macarthy, the Rebel Bard and Minstrel, and his wife, continue to attract, as they always will, in the South, crowded audiences.

Last evening Treloar Hall was literally jammed and the performances were most excellent.

Mrs. Macarthy, recognized in dramatic circles as Miss Lottie Estelle is a star in her several departments as Commedienne and Danseuse, while the inimitable Harry keeps his audience in a continual uproar of side-splitting laughter.

Those who fail to witness the performances this evening may not very soon, if ever again, have an opportunity to enjoy a pleasant and most agreeable entertainment such as can alone be prepared by our Rebel Bard and Minstrel.

Mr. Macarthy's liberality to the soldiers and the great cause of the South, to say nothing of the loss of his property in New Orleans, and his accomplishments as a Commedian and Minstrel, cannot fail to make for him new friends wherever he may journey.

Why Don't They Wait?

If it be true (pertinently asks the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel,) that the Yankees have captured dispatches from Pemberton to Johnston, as stated by themselves, to the effect that the Vicksburg garrison was on very short rations, and could not hold out ten days, why are they not content to wait patiently for so short a time, instead of building parallels, mounting heavy guns, and engaging in other severe and hazardous work, with a view to an assault at the risk of immense loss? Moreover, if they intercepted the dispatches, and thus prevented Johnston from learning from Pemberton the strait of the latter, they were certainly great fools to publish their contents, and thus give Johnston the very information which Pemberton desired to convey to him. The truth is, that the garrison is well provisioned, and that the Yankees, having got worsted, find a poor excuse better than none

PROCLAMATION TO THE PEOPLE OF MISSISSIPPI. You are now able to estimate the consequences which will surely follow, should the enemy succeed in his efforts to obtain possession of the State. You are sufficiently apprised of the formidable nature of the enemy's preparations. It is in your power at this important juncture to strengthen the army which stands between you and total subjugation, by promptly coming to its assistance. We appeal to you to rally to that army which is to fight the battle on which your liberties, your homes and property depend, and thus give to our soldiers the assurance that they fight for a people worthy of their protection. We call upon you to make one united and determined effort to save your country from the horrors of an invasion which threatens everything we hold dear. Organize yourselves into companies of infantry, mounted or otherwise, of not less than forty rank and file, to serve for three months, and report to Gen. Johnston. You will be efficiently armed.

JOHN J. PETTUS,
JOS. E. JOHNSTON.

Jackson, May 27, 1863.

A PARLIAMENTARY TRIBUTE.—At the annual dinner of the Royal Geographical Society of London, on the 25th of May, the Right Honorable Spencer Walpole, M. P., when returning thanks for the toast of "House of Commons," said: Need he add that, crossing the Atlantic, they had also to concern themselves with North America. And in association with this could he forget that lamentable news had to day reached this country to the effect that one of the noblest descendants of the English race, Stonewall Jackson, was now no more! (Cheers.)

From the London Telegraph, May 26,

* * * Add to the splendid valor of a Murat the fervid faith of a Cromwell, and the unbroken success of a Havelock, and we have a captain whose waving sword and fearless voice the Southern whites would have followed "to the pit." That he never lived to exchange a division for an army, a flying corps for the massed columns of the field of battle, may perhaps been good for his fame; but the leader who could find the weak place in Hooker's line at Chancellorsville, and hurl his 25,000 troops upon it as soon as found, as Jackson did, would surely have ripened into a renowned General. Assuredly the most fatal shot of the war to the Confederates, whether fired by friend or foe, was that which struck down the life of Stonewall Jackson—a soldier every inch of him, for whatever cause he contended.

The Northern papers profess to have an accurate statement of the Confederate fleet on the Alabama river and at Mobile. We are not disposed to say how far they are correct in their estimates, but would suggest they can probably ascertain definitely whenever the blockaders are disposed to measure strength in hostile conflict. One dispatch says:

The rebel naval force at Mobile consists of the following vessels: Ram Baltic; gunboats Morgan, Gaines, Selma, and tender Crescent, to be loaded with troops for boarding purposes. Five gunboats have been building on the Alabama river, at a place called Selma, and it was expected that all of them will be ready by the 15th of April. Two of them are built for rams, and the others are more or less protected by iron plating. Their machinery is said to be of a mongrel character, being made up of the refuse matter of the old river boats.

Another Yankee Raid in Alabama.

Correspondence Chattanooga Rebel.]

FLORENCE, ALA., June 4, 1863.

You have, doubtless, ere this, heard of the Yankee raid made on this place a few days since, together with its painful results. It seems that, on Wednesday evening last about 1,000 Yankees cavalry, under command of Col. Cornine, crossed the river below here near Hamburg. By going in a northeasterly direction, they succeeded in evading our forces, of whom there were three or four regiments stationed on the rived below here, some twelve or fifteen miles distant. By a forced march, continued the greater portion of the night, they reached here the next day, Thursday, the 28th, about 1 o'clock p. m. We had two companies in town, including the Provost Guard, under command of the gallant Capt. Davis, of the 52d Alabama. We also had two pieces of artillery, which received them with a welcome until, seeing it was utterly useless to resist so formidable a body, our small squad was withdrawn from the town and the vandals allowed to enter. Then began a scene which it were vain for me to attempt to describe. They scattered over every portion of the town, ramsacked every private dwelliug, broke open the stores and committed outrages which are unsurpassed in the "Great Rebellion." The amounts taken from the stores in money and goods varied from $1.000 to 4,000. Gold watches, jewelry and money seemed to be their principal object. Not satisfied, however, with what they could steal, they set fire to a block of buildings in the centre of the town. Among these were the Masonic Hall, printing office, three small dwellings together with carpenter, blacksmith and carriage shops. They then fired two squares immediately in the business portion of the place, but they were prevented from burning by the efforts of some ladies and others, who were bold enough to lend their assistance in spite of the pistols presented on their appearance. During the time one of the fires was being kept down, one of the Yankees offered to assist the ladies, when he was immediately shot by an officer, and died shortly afterwards. They remained here only three or four hours, and then left in the direction of Waterloo.

In the country they burned the wool factory of Darby Benham, & Co., the three large cotton factories of Martin, Weakly & co., and the wool factory of Martin & Sons, making not only a private but a national loss of many thousands of dollars. These factories have been working for the Government for some time past, and since the 1st of October last there has been sent from this place over one million yards of jeans and osanburgs. It would seem from this that North Alabama is a place of considerable importance, after all. In the country they made general havoc, burning corncribs, fodder, provisions of all kinds, carriages and waggons. They took all the horses to be found, as well as all the negroes who would consent to go with them. I fear we will find some difficulty in gathering the wheat crop now, as it is exceedingly large. Indeed, the crops generally are in fine condition in this part of the State, and it is to be hoped that the Federals will be kept out until after harvest.

A great degree of negligence and bad management has certainly been shown on our part in this affair. But it is not my place to say who should receive the censure for this. We must wait for further developments, and it must fall on those who deserve it. Suffice it to say, the Yankees escaped with the loss of but few men, recrossing the river at Hamburg, under cover of their gunboats. Prisoners report that another raid is preparing to leave Corinth very soon and will probably endeavor to reach Montgomery in their course. Let us be ready to receive them.

The Vallandigham Outrage—The Voice of the People.

ONEIDA.—In Utica, on Friday night, the electors of Oneida county held a mass meeting on the subject, which was attended by some three thousand people, including many returned soldiers, who evinced their hearty sympathy with the objects of the gathering by frequent and cordial applause. Hon. C. S. Wilson, Mayor of Utica, presided, assisted by a large number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries. Eloquent and impressive speeches were made by Hon. Francis Kernan and Elias B. Schneble, of Pennsylvania, and dignified and earest resolutions were adopted. We quote the concluding resolution:

Therefore, we solemnly protest against the acts of Gen. Burnside, recited in the preamble hereof, as a defiance of the laws, an outrage upon the constitution and a deadly blow at public liberty; and we call upon the Executive to [illegible] order, to set aside the mock trial and illegal sentance of which Mr. Vallandigham has been made the victim, and to set the latter at liberty.

RENSSELAER.—In Troy, on Saturday night, there was an immense gathering of citizens of that city, and the adjoining villages. The Whig states the number in attendance at eight thousand. Ex-Mayor Alfred Wolkyns presided. One hundred Vice Presidents and some fifty Secretaries were appointed. The speakers were Ira Shafer, Esq., of this city; Hon. D. L. Seymour, and Justice Cornelius, of Troy. We have the speech of Mr. Shafer before us. It is a bold and manly expression of indignation at the attempts that are being made to despoil the citizens of their constitutional rights, and at the same time an able convincing review of the legal questions involved.

The meeting readopted the series of resolutions adopted in this city, with the following added thereto:

Resolved, That we fully and heartily endorse the language of our noble and truly patriotic Governor, addressed to the meeting assembled at Albany, on Saturday, the 16th inst., that the arbitrary arrest and imprisonment of Mr. Vallandigham is "an act which has brought dishonor upon our country, which is full of danger to our persons and homes, and which bears upon its front a conscious violation of law and justice."

It was the largest meeting ever held in Troy, although got up without extra effort, and it was particularly noticeable because of the large number of gentlemen present, as officers, and otherwise participants, who never before acted with the Democratic.

KINGS.—In Brooklyn, the Democratic General Committee have appointed a sub-committee to consider the subject of the recent arbitrary arrest by the Government and draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Union Democratic General Committee.

Mr. Milller said he hoped that the resolutions would pledge the General Committee to sustain Gov. Seymour in resisting all attempts at arbitrary arrests by the General Government in the State of New York.

SENECA.—We see that a mass meeting of the people of Seneca county is called to meet at Waterloo, next Saturday, in vindication of the inalienable rights of American citizens to free speech, free press, trial by jury, free elections, free courts and equal rights in the use of the mails and telegram. The call adds:

No stock jobbing or speculating in high places at the expense of the blood and treasure of the nation! No division of the North in the struggle to maintain the Union and the Constitution! No midnight arrests or drum head courtmartials. "No freeman shall be imprisoned, banished or put to death, except by a jury of his peers." The war must be waged to put down rebellion at the Suoth, not to put down free instiutions at the North."

NEW JERSEY.—In New Jersey, as we learn from the Trenton True American, a wide spread anxiety is manifest among the people, and from all quarters demands are pouring in for a mass State Convention, "in order to renew the expressions of loyalty to the Government, fidelity to the Constitution, and attachment to the Union, and at the same time to demand of them in authority an equally faithful and earnest respect to the great principles of civil liberty upon which our system of Government is based.

TAX ON TOBACCO.—In reply to an inquiry submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury by several manufacturers of Lynchburg, whether tobacco held by the manufacturer is liable, or not, to the Confederate tax, that officer replies as follows:

The question submitted in your letter of the 30th ult., having been considered, I have to reply that all tobacco, whether manufactured or unmanufactured, of the growth or production of any year, preceding this year, is subject, under section 1, of the Tax Act, to a tax of eight per cent upon its value. And it is immaterial whether it had been manufactured during the present or any year preceding this. I am clearly of opinion that the manufacturer of tobacco is not the producer in contemplation of paragraph thirteen, section five, of said act, and that commission merchants are liable for the two and a half per cent. upon all sales made of manufacturers or others than the producers or growers of the article. Whoever holds or controls the tobacco on the 1st of July, whether the manufacturer or his agent, will be required to make returns thereof to the Assessor, and pay the tax to the Collector of the District wherein he may reside.

ATTEMPT TO SOUND NIAGARA FALLS.—The gentleman who has been trying the experiment of sounding the river below Niagara Falls, writes as follows:

Another attempt was made with a similar iron of about 40 pounds weight, attached to a No. 11 wire, all freely suspended so as not to impede the fall of the weight. I then let the weight fall from the bridge, a height of 225 feet. It struck the surface fairly, with the point down—must have sunk to some depth, but was not longer out of sight than one second, when it made its appearance again on the surface, about 100 feet down the stream, and skipped along like a chip, until it was checked by the wire. We then commenced hauling in slowly, which made the iron bounce like a ball, when a cake of ice struck it and ended the sport. I am satisfied that no metal has sufficient specific gravity to pierce that current, even with a momentum acquired by a fall of 225 feet. The have been equal to 124 feet per second, and consequently its momentum near 5,000 lbs. Its surface opposed to the current was about 50 superficial inches. This will give an idea of the strength of that current, and at the same time hint at the Titan forces that have been at work to scoop out the bed of the Niagara river.

BLOCKADE OF CORPUS CHRISTI RAISED.—The Houston Telegraph of May 26th, has information that Gen. Magruder had fitted out several small steamers at Corpus Christi, and attacked the blockading fleet. He succeeded in sinking two of the enemy's vessels, capturing fifteen prisoners and raising the blockade.

A dispatch from St. Paul to the Chicago Times, says Indian hostilities have commenced in Minnesota. Murders have already been perpetrated by the savages, and a general outbreak is speedily anticipated. Much excitement and alarm prevail among the people.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

It is with heartfelt sorrow that I announce to his numerous friends and relatives, the death of my esteemed brother-in-law, ROBERT L. PHILLIPS, of my company. I offer the following lines as a feeble Tribute of Respect to his memory, and if possible to offer some consolation to his distressed relatives.

He fell while bravely charging the enemy in his breast works at "Wilderness Swamp," near Fredericksburg, Va., on Sunday, May the 3d, 1863. He faltered not, but fought bravely till he fell, having his left leg broken by a minnie ball. He said he called to me when he fell, but I was knocked down by a shell, probably about the same, and failed to hear him. Shortly after he fell, he was struck I suppose by a shell, shattering both thighs.—I stayed with him, and had every attention paid him that I could employ, until he was removed to Richmond on the Wednesday following, at which place he died on Saturday the 9th May.

The subject of this sketch entered the service last March as a "volunteer conscript." He remained at home with his loving wife, as long as he could consistently with honor. In his short stay with us he endeared himself to all his comrades by his kind deportment. But he is gone, forever gone, from this world of trouble and trials, turmoils and strife, we humbly hope to a land where peace and happiness eternal reigns.

I subjoin the following beautiful lines as appropriate and expressive of my feelings:

"My brothers dead! oh yes, he's gone,
And I am left his death to mourn;
But cannot mourn as those who have,
No hope of life beyond the grave.

He left a home, a loving wife,
And came to live a soldier's life;
His country call'd and he came forth,
To fight the tyrants of the North.

Much consolation to the brave,
My brother fills an honored grave;
But more consoling sweets are given,
I hope that we shall meet in Heaven."

LIEUT. M. T. MITCHELL,
Co. "H," 22d Vols.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Capt W. JOHNSTON is no more. He was killed on the 4th of May, on Monday evening, at the retaking of Mary's Heights. He was Captain of Co. H, 57th Regt. N. C. troops. He was in his 29th year. He was shot through both lungs. He was carried back and put in the care of a friend, and after lying there a short time, he asked to be shown where he was hurt; his breast was exposed—the ball having passed through both lungs; he put one of his thumbs in each wound and exclaimed—"I must die; friend, go and see how the battle is progressing, and tell me.

After his friend had reported to him, he said to him, "You take your gun and go fight; I can die by myself." He fell in the right place. His Colonel, (Godwin,) bears testimony of his great excellence and bravery, and his high standing as an officer and gentleman—that he surpassed any Captain in his regiment in the discharge of his duty. Well may his father exclaim, in the language of Gen. Wise, "Farewell, brave boy! you died for me! you died for me!"

He was a Secessionist from principle—he believed our cause was right and the right persued.

When the Governor called he volunteered as a private in one of the first companies that left Cabarrus county. He assisted in driving the enemy out of Fort Caswell, and there remained till the reorganization of the regiment took place, but in the meantime he was promoted to a Lieutenancy. At that time he was home on detached service. He then assisted in raising a company, in the command of which he died. Well may it be said of him—

He has slept his last sleep,
He has fought his last battle;
No sound can awake him
To glory again.
